Loggers Would Settle If Vote Authorized Employers Opposed

Union Maintenance Clause Barrier To Immediate Strike Settlement

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Leaders of British Columbia's 35,000 striking loggers and millworkers tonight announced the Sloan recommendations for settlement of the 34-day-old strike will be accepted if the Federal Government authorizes a membership referendum on a union-maintenance clause in a new contract.

It was emphasized, however, that the workers will not return to their jobs until the operators agree to accept the referendum vote if authorized by the Government.

A union maintenance clause—a modified form of union shop—would call for maintenance of present membership and for entry into the union of all men hired after a new contract becomes effective. The clause would not apply to non-union workers in the industry today.

"The I.W.A. decision settles nothing and merely prolongs the strike which could be so simply terminated by acceptance of the Sloan recommendations," said R. V. Stuart, spokesman for the operators.

"The operators have flatly rejected the principle of compulsory union membership. They do not consider that any employee should have to be fired because he will not join or maintain membership voluntarily in the I.W.A."

The recommendations of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, Government-appointed arbitrator, call for a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, 44-hour week and a revocable check-off system for dues.

The workers and operators had been deadlocked for some days on the union demand for a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase, 40-hour week, and union security.

Announcement of the latest union move came following a meeting tonight of the union district executive council attended by Harold Pritchett, district president; Karly Larsen, of Portland, Ore., international vice-president, and Ernest Dalskog, international board members of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

Earlier, the three union leaders had made a flying visit to Victoria, where they conferred with Chief Justice Sloan and Labor Minister George S. Pearson.

Members of Local 1-118, International Woodworkers of America, will meet tonight in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden to discuss the proposals handed down last night by the executive council. It is expected more than 500 will attend.

"There'll be a lot of discussion on this, you can bet on that," said Roy Simmons, executive member. He foresaw further trouble over hours of work, and union security clauses.

"It puts the onus right back on the employers and the Government," he said.

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan and Labor Minister George Pearson declined to comment on the union statement from Vancouver.

TORQUAY, Devon, England, June 17 (CP).—Clear reception of television pictures from Alexandra Palace, the B.B.C.'s television transmitting station in North London, more than 200 miles distant, was reported today by a reviewer using a prewar set in a cliff-top village near here. Normal range is 40 miles.

Schwellenbach and wife arrived here aboard the steamer Princess Louise tonight for a two-hour stopover en route to Skagway on what he said was a vacation trip. Asked about a rumor that he intended to resign from President Truman's Cabinet, the Labor Secretary replied: "That's rumored once a week."

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—Officials of the Canadian Red Cross said tonight they were marshalling their forces to render all-out aid to the stricken Windsor area. May Agree On India Rule Plan

Quick Acceptance Of Proposal Seen

NEW DELHI, June 17 (AP).—Sentiment appeared to be crystallising rapidly tonight for quick acceptance by the dominantly Hindu Congress Party and the Moslem League of the British-proposed coalition interim government for India.

An indication that a decision by the Congress Party might come sooner than had been expected was seen in the call for a meeting of the Congress working committee tomorrow morning.

The committee will consult then with Abdul Ghaffar Khan, known as "The Frontier Gandhi." A member of the committee, he is flying here from his far northern home to join the group in its deliberations.

The working committee of the Moslem League, chief rival of the Congress Party, also met today and will reassemble late tomorrow. There was no formal announcement of acceptance from the League, but President M. A. Jinnah was reported to have sent a letter to the Viceroy, Viscount Wavell, presumably seeking assurance of allocation of key portfolios in the interim cabinet of 14 proposed by Britain.

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the Congress Party, who conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, one of the members of the Cabinet mission, also was reported to have discussed the distribution of the key portfolios.

Car Workers Vote Strike

WINDSOR, Ont., June 17 (CP).—Union employees at Chrysler Corporation plant here and in Chatham, Ont., voted at mass meetings tonight to strike at 7 a.m. Tuesday.

Last-minute negotiations this afternoon failed to avert the walkout caused by the company's rejection of demands of the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.).

About 4,000 workers here and 1,000 at the Chatham plant are involved in the dispute. The workers asked a $2-a-day wage increase, a 40-hour work week and a union shop. The company, they said, offered them a six-cent-an-hour boost.

Former Nazi P.O.W.'s Will Espouse Democracy

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 17 (AP).—An American experiment with 25,000 missionaries of democracy—former German prisoners of war in the United States—is under way in Germany.

The United States Army looks to these returned veterans to extol American political ideals in a land of ruined cities, paralyzed economy and confused people.

Their formal training was a few days' lectures by American professors while they were incarcerated at camps in Rhode Island, Virginia and France. Numerically, they are a drop in a battered bucket overflowing with 65,000,000 other Germans.

The provost marshal general's office, in charge of the democratization scheme, does not expect miracles, but it feels the scheme is better than none.

Looking back on their years of imprisonment, the former P.O.W.'s agree on certain fundamentals:

Americans have more food, clothing and housing than other countries dream of.

Their newspapers are unrestrained, unregimented and uncompromising.

Their democracy is workable—in the United States—but in Germany it's a long haul, at best.

With hunger chronic, food overshadows German thinking, among missionaries and potential converts alike.

Gambling Favored As Aussie Pastime

SYDNEY, Australia, June 17 (CP).—The 40-hour working week, under much discussion in Australia, has focused interest on the way in which Australians spend their leisure time.

Surveys by social workers show that gambling is one of the major leisure-time interests.

Official statistics show that turnovers for horse racing have jumped tremendously recently.

Newer forms of gambling in lotteries, greyhound racing, and housie-housie, or bingo, have become almost as popular. Official Government lotteries now are held in Western Australia and New South Wales, with bigger private lotteries in Queensland and Tasmania.

Fishermen Vote To End Strike

ASTORIA, Ore., June 17 (AP).—Striking gillnet fishermen of the Columbia River voted today to accept a 2-cent per pound price for salmon and steelheads and resume work tomorrow. The strike started June 10.

Henry Niemela, secretary of the 1,500 fishermen who operate about 900 boats, reported the union had asked a 25 per cent increase.

Continue Search For Missing Girl

Police are still searching for 15-year-old Mabel Jean Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Clark, 641 Chatham Street, missing since June 4.

She was last seen wearing a white coat, white shoes, no stockings, and a cherry-colored suit. She has light brown hair, is five feet three inches tall and weighs 110 pounds.

U.S. Proposes Strike Truce

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP).—Possibility that labor might agree to a one-year truce on strikes if given a guarantee of firm and effective price controls has been suggested to President Truman by Chester Bowles, it was learned tonight.

So far the idea is still in the discussion stage, but Mr. Bowles, director of economic stabilization, has already sounded out some labor leaders upon the idea.

No Housing Worries Here

WITH millions crowding London for the Victory Parade, housing accommodations were taxed to the utmost. However, these two sailors, anticipating the difficulty, solved the problem very neatly. They brought along hammocks and slung them between a tree and a lamp post in Pall Mall, as they awaited the start of the parade. Hundreds of others had to sleep along the parade route while others danced and sang the night through.

Palestine Terrorism Causes Nine Deaths

JERUSALEM, June 17 (AP).—British troops deployed tonight through the troubled areas of the Holy Land seeking to halt a wave of terrorism and violence which already has brought death to six Jews and three British soldiers and severed all of Palestine's frontier bridges.

While the search was on for the Jewish gangs which allegedly destroyed the bridges, a series of explosions occurred in the important port of Haifa. The blasts came from the direction of the Palestine railway shops near Haifa Bay. The shops were under heavy attack and fires were raging there.

During the last 24 hours six terrorists were killed in attacks on the bridges. One British officer was killed while dismantling a mine placed under one bridge, while two British soldiers were injured fatally in a clash between troops and Arabs at Gaza Parka.

The Palestine Government announced that all train service between Palestine, Syria and Transjordan had been halted by the destruction of the railway bridge over Yarmuk Gorge. Another span wrecked was the famous Allenby Bridge over the River Jordan.

The British Army said that 62 men—the entire male population of the village of Beth Haavara on the Dead Sea—as well as 12 other men and two women suspects were under arrest in connection with the destruction of the highway and rail bridges.

Butter Prices In Canada Set

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—Recent subsidy changes on milk and dairy products in Canada represent the limit to which the Canadian Government plans to go at present in increasing such prices, and no butter or milk increases are expected to follow price rises announced today in the United States, a Prices Board official said tonight.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP).—Housewives in the United States tonight were confronted with higher prices for butter, cheese and evaporated milk and prospects of slightly smaller supplies of meat, poultry, eggs, wheat products and dried fruits.

The higher prices were set by the Office of Price Administration, following earlier increases on milk, bread and other food.

The price increases are 11 cents a pound for butter, six cents for cheddar cheese and one cent on a 14½-ounce can of evaporated milk.

Try Span World By Wheelbarrow

SEATTLE, June 17 (AP).—Having tested his legs and found them "fit as fiddles," by hiking across the Cascade Mountains, Larry Hightower, 46, ex-Montana cowpuncher, announced today that he would start pushing a wheelbarrow around the world, leaving Ellensburg, Wash., for Seattle on July 4.

Dark, balding, poet and veteran of the Great War, he plans to circle the globe in 12 years, and says a calendar picture of a man pushing a barrow inspired him to attempt the feat. He plans to walk and push 20,000 miles—even giving his feet and his barrow a daily workout on ocean-going ships.

Beef Prices Highest Yet

Wholesale beef prices have been boosted again and the possibility looms once more that Victoria meat dealers will be forced to close their shops within a week or ten days. Retail price ceilings remain in force.

Reginald Williams, president of the Vancouver Island Retail Meat Dealers' Association, said last night the wholesale price of beef had risen to a peak of 25½ cents per pound, "the highest it has ever been since the start of the war."

Most dealers have enough stock on hand to last another week, Mr. Williams said, but after that, unless the packers reduced prices, many shops would close.

"No man can operate a business with a loss of hundreds of dollars weekly," Mr. Williams stated. He thought there might be even further boosts in the price of beef, and mentioned unofficial reports that in Eastern Canada prices had jumped to 29 cents a pound.

The Government ceiling on beef, which was lifted at the end of May, was 21½ cents a pound, he said. Lowest beef price now is 24½ cents.

Members of the association will meet Thursday night at a Fort Street hall to discuss the situation.

Forecaster Says He's Right Guess Nature Must Be Wrong

A press dispatch from Toronto carries the "interesting" information that "residents of Victoria were given the best (weather forecasting) service with a monthly record of 97 per cent for the city, missing a perfect score as a result of one 'bust' by the forecaster on May 13."

Somebody is wrong!

On May 23, the Dominion Department of Transport issued its official weather forecast as follows: "Clear, with light winds, becoming southwesterly in afternoon." On that day foghorns blew along the waterfront and a tugboat went down in a collision in the Strait of Juan de Fuca in visibility shading to zero.

That's "bust" number one.

One of the loveliest days in Victoria was May 15. The sun shone with all its might. There was little wind. The sky was clear, the clouds rode high. But what did the official weather forecast say? "Victoria and vicinity—Cloudy becoming clear in evening. Winds southwest, 15 miles an hour."

That certainly is "bust" number two.

Let's jump ahead now to May 4. The official forecast for Victoria read as follows: "Clear with light winds becoming southwesterly, 15 miles an hour during afternoon and evening." The weather Victoria experienced on that day, however, was not clear but cloudy in the morning, clearing in the afternoon and at times ten degrees colder than it had been on the sunny day before.

That's "bust" number three.

There were more, too, as a check would show to anyone.

There's nothing the matter with Victoria weather. It's unrivalled anywhere in the world.

But the weather forecasting! Well, that's something else again.

Freak Tornado Strikes Forty Persons Killed Windsor Is Devastated

Ontario Border City Cut Off Completely from Communications As Unusual Storm Rips Through Suddenly at Terrific Speed

WINDSOR, June 17 (AP).—A freak tornado early tonight cut through Sandwich in the city of Windsor, taking a toll of about 40 lives.

The storm struck River Rouge, across the Detroit River in Michigan, and swept on across the southwestern section of Windsor.

Three were known dead in River Rouge and some eye-witnesses said the death toll on the Ontario side was considerable.

Windsor, situated on a peninsula in the tip of south-western Ontario between Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair, was cut off from communication with other Canadian points for hours by the storm.

First reports of the disaster, in which buildings were flattened in the 100-foot-wide path of the storm, were relayed by The Associated Press Bureau in Detroit to The Canadian Press in New York and thence into Canada.

Whole families were feared wiped out in the path of the tornado. Many of the victims were decapitated.

Windsor was without electric light tonight. The power was cut off because of the danger of falling wires.

Sandwich, formerly a separate municipality, was incorporated along with other towns, into the City of Windsor about 10 years ago.

A wind and rainstorm was still raging some hours after the tornado had struck.

Buildings in both Sandwich and River Rouge were flattened by the wind.

THREE ARE KILLED ON UNITED STATES SIDE

Chief of Police Tom Vereiden, of River Rouge said three persons were killed there while nearly 40 more were taken to hospitals on the American side.

One reporter in Windsor said a nurse at Grace Hospital here said there were 28 persons in the hospital and that some were dying.

Mrs. Albert R. Perry, of Windsor, said at least seven persons were killed near her home. She said they lived in a house across the street from her.

"We saw the house lifted from its foundations," she said.

"It just came rolling and rolling and rolling along. I saw the house go up in the air and I saw the bodies being carried away by the wind. I don't know what became of them."

Windsor police said at least 15 bodies had been recovered and many others probably were hidden in the wreckage. One police officer said he had received a report that 36 were killed.

Within the memory of Windsor's oldest residents, it was the first tornado that ever hit the city. After sweeping across the river from River Rouge, it cut almost a semi-circle around the city, levelling almost everything within a 100-yard path.

Dooley Cohane, a Detroit policeman returning from Colchester, Ont., said he saw the tornado approaching when he was driving along the Canadian side of the river, five miles south of the Ambassador Bridge.

He drove more than 80 miles an hour trying to keep ahead of it, he said, but wasn't able to do so. Debris struck his car as he raced with the wind.

"I saw five or six houses demolished," he said. "When the tornado hit power lines they went up like a flash of lightning. The houses went up like puffs of smoke."

All Canada Knows Except Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont., June 17 (CP).—Tonight's tornado is the worst thing of its kind that ever struck the Windsor area, but while all of Canada is getting the story, the people of Windsor themselves still don't know the extent of the disaster.

Canada is getting the news by teletype and radio via Detroit. But in Windsor the power is shut off, so radios are useless and the Border City folk must get their information only by word of mouth.

By tomorrow morning, however, The Windsor Star will have a special edition on the street . . . printed at the plant of The Detroit Free Press.

Storm Hits East City Three Dead

Farm Lands Damaged In Ten-Hour Blow

LONDON, Ont., June 17 (CP).—Three deaths and damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 was caused by two severe electrical storms which lashed portions of Western Ontario last night and today.

Said to be the worst in years, today's storm flooded thousands of acres of Kent farm land, uprooted hundreds of trees, snapped telephone poles and flattened scores of farm buildings.

At its peak last night's blow, which lasted for more than 10 hours, tore away more than 100 feet of Rondeau Bay's Erieau dykes. Thousands of tons of water poured over the rich Erieau onion marshes flooding the land at some points to a depth of three feet.

Damage of $500,000 was estimated caused to crops of onions, beets, spinach and potatoes in the marsh area, another $500,000 to tobacco plants, strawberries, tomatoes and early potatoes in the rich farmland of the highlands.

Italy Has Say In Settling War Damages

PARIS, June 17 (AP).—The four-powers foreign ministers' council today gave Italy an equal voice in settling war damage claims arising out of military action on Italian soil by providing for the establishment of multi-national mixed claims tribunals.

An American informant, in disclosing this action, said the council settled a number of economic issues for the projected peace treaty with Italy, but had postponed until tomorrow discussion of the knotty Italian reparations question.

The British, American, French and Russian foreign ministers also agreed on a United States proposal to use Italian property held by Allied countries in satisfying claims by each country's nationals against Italy. At the same time, the ministers adopted a clause binding Italy to renounce any claims for damages against Allied nationals arising from the war.

Iran to Launch Anti-Opium Drive

TEHRAN, June 17 (Reuters).—Iran is growing her last crop of opium poppies—officially.

Premier Ahmed Qavam's Government has decreed that cultivation is to cease when this season's fruits of the purple and white flowers, now slashing the landscape with color, have been gathered.

Licensed dealers will be forced out of business and large opium stocks on hand will be exported or reserved for medicinal purposes.

It is estimated in Iran that one in every three to five adults, men and women alike, use opium. In some areas of the country, almost half the grown-up male population takes the drug. Two-thirds of the country's opium users regard the drug in much the same way as the Briton regards whisky and soda—something to be used in moderation.

The remaining one-third are addicts.

Child Killed Under Truck

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Five-year-old Paul Carson Kelly died in hospital here tonight after being run over by the rear wheels of a two-ton truck.

The child was playing in a backyard near his home when the truck, driven by a family friend, turned in from the lane. The driver failed to see the child.

Oppose Britain's Move To Delay Spanish Case

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP).—Australia, France and Mexico today joined in opposition to an attempt by Great Britain to send the Spanish case from the United Nations Security Council to the General Assembly without a recommendation for a diplomatic break with Madrid.

After two and one-half hours of debate, the council adjourned until tomorrow without a vote. The new chairman, Dr. Francisco Castillo Najero, of Mexico, said some of the delegates had another engagement that made adjournment necessary.

The session was highlighted by a personal appeal from the Australian delegate, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, to Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko to go along with the majority "in the interest of democratic principles."

Mr. Gromyko last week attacked the sub-committee recommendations for a break with Franco Spain if Generalissimo Franco still is in power in September. He said it did not go far enough.

Debate started when Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain called on the council to pass along to the General Assembly the resolution pending in the council but without any recommendation for a break with Spain.

Flies to Canada For Grain Talks

LONDON, June 17 (Reuters).—Food Minister John Strachey left London tonight by air for Canada to discuss with Agriculture Minister Gardiner and other Government officials what Mr. Strachey termed "an important and far-reaching agreement with Canada which will go far to assure our wheat supplies."

Accompanying the minister were Maurice L. Hutton, head of the British foods mission in Washington; Herbert Broadley, deputy secretary to the Ministry of Food, and Mr. Strachey's secretary, G. S. Bishop.

After talks in Canada Mr. Strachey will continue to Washington for talks with Agriculture Secretary Anderson.

Helgoland to Go In One Big Blast

CUXHAVEN, Germany, June 17 (AP).—A senior British naval officer said today the great German island fortress of Helgoland will be "blown up" within three months and be fit only for "a beautiful bird sanctuary."

Plans are to set off explosive charges totaling several hundred tons in one great blast.

The officer said the island would never again be fit for human habitation. The island is about 130 acres and had 4,000 inhabitants before the war.

The officer said "influential bird enthusiasts and ornithologists" in Britain had opposed strongly the plan to destroy the island because they feared the effect of migratory birds.

"I can only assure them that when we have finished it will be the most wonderful bird sanctuary—nothing but a pile of rocks."

R.C.M.P. Dogs Survive Trend to Mechanization

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP). — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, whose famed horses have been supplanted by the automobile and whose northern dog teams are giving way before the ski plane, still have found no mechanical substitute for the keen nostrils of service dogs in tracking down criminals.

The records section of R.C.M.P. headquarters here is full of stories of the value of service dogs. There are many examples of R.C.M.P. dogs capturing criminals who otherwise might have eluded police indefinitely.

One case record tells how police service dog Prince, stationed in Nova Scotia, aided in capturing the owner of a moonshine liquor still, who had eluded police for some 25 years.

Tell, one of the oldest dogs in the service, has been on two successful cases in recent months, both times tracking down dangerous men.

Tell, now used in Saskatchewan, has traveled more than 20,000 miles by police car, while Cliffe, operating from Vancouver, has traveled by car, boat and aircraft to the scenes of crimes.

At the present time there are 13 Shepherds, Schnauzers and Doberman Pinschers round out the ranks.

Held Prisoner During Purge

NUERNBERG, June 17 (AP).—Franz von Papen testified today that when he was second to Hitler in Germany the Nazis held him a virtual prisoner for three days during the notorious blood purge of 1934, and that in indignation he demanded and obtained a release from his post of vice-chancellor.

He told the International Military Tribunal trying him and other Nazi leaders for war crimes that Hitler refused to permit him to make the resignation public immediately because the German population at the time was too excited.

Von Papen, accused of engineering moves which raised the Nazis to power, said Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, also on trial, told him at the time of the June, 1934, purge to remain in his own home for safety, because a revolt was erupting in the ranks of Hitler's brown-shirted storm troopers.

"I found my office in the Reichschancellory occupied by the S.S. and when I got to my flat there was a strong formation there, too," Von Papen testified.

"For three days I was cut off from the outside world with no telephone or radio. My press expert was shot and two of my secretaries were taken to concentration camps. When I was freed, Goering apologized and said it was all a mistake.

In 1932, Von Papen testified, he attempted to organize a new Government of President von Hindenburg in an effort to prevent "civil war." Seeking to show that he worked for Germany and not for Hitler, Von Papen said he set up a plan to keep the Nazis out of power, even though it meant installing Hitler as chancellor.

To Retain Controls On Exchange

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—As a guard against possible exchange fluctuations which might result from the pressure of uncontrolled capital withdrawals from Canada, the Canadian Government plans to continue through the transition period some of the foreign exchange controls placed on capital movements during the war years, Finance Minister Ilsley told the Commons today.

He spoke of introducing a resolution to a bill which will make statutory the foreign exchange controls now enforced under authority of orders in council. The bill was given first reading.

Mr. Ilsley outlined the reasons for first imposing the controls, gave a review of foreign exchange movements during the war, and told of the need for continuing the controls until the economic future of the world becomes settled.

FUTURE RELATIONS STILL UNCERTAIN

"The general character of the international financial and economic relations between nations which is going to prevail in the future is still uncertain," he said. "We hope that it will be one which does not call for restrictive controls and we shall do everything in our power to bring this about . . .

". . . Canada is in an exposed international position, on account of our international debtor status and on account of the great importance of international transactions in our economic life. We cannot demobilize our main economic defence without being absolutely certain that it will not be needed."

The controls being continued would apply to certain types of capital movement. The Foreign Exchange Control Board expecteed to avoid any interference with current account transactions.

The controls first were imposed in 1940 when it was feared a shortage of United States dollars might cause a bottleneck in the Canadian war effort.

The berries had a delicious flavor and bouquet.

Three Fishermen Fined $100 For Taking Drifting Sawlogs

At the conclusion of an all-day trial, Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court yesterday convicted Gavin Henderson, his son-in-law, Charles Lumley, and the latter's brother, John Lumley, on charges of unlawfully taking drifting saw logs in Stuart Channel.

The accused, all Chemainus fishermen, were each fined $100 or in default three months at hard labor.

They escaped jail sentence, His Honor said, only because the man to whom they sold the logs, Newton Graham, was not charged with them.

Evidence for the prosecution, conducted by E. V. Finland, was that the three accused had taken 11 saw logs to Graham, who had agreed to purchase them for $150, but did not actually hand over the money. Witnesses from Victoria Lumber Co., Ltd., at Chemainus, owners of the logs, valued them at between $300 and $500.

For the defence, handled by John Stanton of Vancouver, it was contended that there was no fraudulent intent on the part of the accused, who stated that they had pulled the logs off Tent and Kuper Islands and taken them to Newton Graham at Montague Harbor as salvage.

The accused in evidence stated that they did not know anything about timber marks.

Judge Shandley said he refused to believe that three Chemainus fishermen did not know the meaning of timber marks, or that they had not looked for marks on the logs.

"I am convinced that you appropriated the logs and took them to Graham, who ought to be here with you—and I don't know why he's not." Graham, said His Honor, was worse than the accused; they were fishermen but he was in the timber business.

Red Faces Go With Weather

If officials of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce are noticed with red faces these days, it is not because of sunburn.

This has been an unusual June for Victoria as far as the weather is concerned, yesterday reported William Burton, weatherman at Gonzales Hill.

It has been a comparatively wet month—again as far as weather is concerned.—with rain nearly an inch above normal. Temperatures too, have been below usual June standards, with the highest being 75 on June 1. "This is by no means a record," the weatherman stated.

Total hours of sunshine for the month has been cut considerably due to cloudy conditions of the past week.

Begonias, roses, cacti and succulents will be in the non-competitive displays.

The show will be open to the public Friday and Saturday evening and will open at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Entries are still being received by the secretary, Alderman D. D. McTavish, 607 Fort Street, and show catalogues may be obtained on application at his office.

Fire Protection Now Planned In Colwood Area

Given the go-ahead signal by the Provincial Government to work out a fire protection system, the district of Colwood is facing only one major problem.

There will be no shortage of equipment, for former Civil Defence plant is to be turned over to the new organization; but ways and means have yet to be found of providing an adequate water system and installing the necessary hydrants.

Incorporation of Colwood into a fire protection district has been approved by order in council, and election of trustees will be held in Colwood Hall at 8 p.m. on Friday. Ernest Herbert Emery has been appointed returning officer for the election.

HUNGRY for Cotton

WAR ate up a lot of cotton—in military clothing, tents, tarpaulins, a thousand war uses—millions of yards of fabric, millions of pounds of yarn.

And, of course, war needs had to be served first.

Now that the war is over, it's the civilian market that's hungry for cotton—cotton for sheets and shirts, for dresses and underwear and for dozens of industrial uses.

The gap between supply and demand is world-wide. In Canada, though our mills are doing their utmost, it will take months for the cotton industry to catch up.

WE shall continue to distribute our production on a quota basis, playing no favourites.

News of Harbor Development Met With Enthusiasm in City

News that the Federal Government is negotiating for the acquisition of Rithet Wharves, and the improvement of Ogden Point piers for deep-sea shipping, has met with the enthusiastic approval.

Fred Hawes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce port and harbor development committee, said yesterday: "The need for proper docking facilities for deep-sea ships in Victoria is becoming more and more evident. The city of Victoria is losing business every day because of the lack of suitable accommodation for shipping of this kind."

Walter S. Miles, vice-president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, believed the Government was realizing the necessity of developing West Coast ports, and particularly Victoria, as it is the first and last port of call in Western Canada.

"If they get this thing going, we can look forward to a great deal more shipping than we are getting now," he said.

Meanwhile, H. S. Hammill, general manager at Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd., is on his way to Ottawa where he will discuss the matter with R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and Ottawa officials. V.M.D. is now occupying Rithet Wharves.

Esquimalt Woman Is Up for Murder After Five-Year-Old Dies of Beating

Mrs. Ethel James was charged with murder yesterday afternoon in Esquimalt police court following the death of her niece, Rosan James Martin, five-year-old Indian girl, believed to have died early Thursday as a result of a brutal beating.

She was remanded without plea until Saturday.

Investigation of the death started Friday morning when the body was viewed at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor after being brought from the Viewfield Road home of Mrs. James.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, was called when the child's body showed signs of violence. He notified Esquimalt police and asked for a post-mortem examination.

After an autopsy Sunday morning, Dr. J. H. Moore announced the child appeared to have been beaten to death. He said death was caused by a hemorrhage of the brain and intestines. The child had cuts and bruises over both eyes, a three-inch gash in her forehead, severe bruises on her breast, hips, abdomen and back.

Mrs. James was taken into custody Sunday night by Police Chief Gilbert Stancombe after a three-day investigation.

The little girl is said to be the daughter of Martin Fred and Hilda James, Cole Bay Reserve Indians.

Rosan had been living with her aunt and uncle, Ethel and Henry James, for two years and four months, at the two-room shack on Viewfield Road.

CHILD'S BODY PASSED THROUGH DOOR

Attendants at Hayward's said when they called at the home, Friday, the child's body, wrapped in a blanket, was passed through the door. They were told she had died at 4:30 the previous morning.

Rosan slept in a cot at the foot of her aunt and uncle's bed. On the wall near the cot were marks which appeared to be blood. Two pillows and some bedding apparently smeared with blood were found on an old stove at the rear of a house in front of the James' cabin.

Mrs. James betrayed no emotion when the charge of murder was read in court yesterday. Dressed neatly in a fawn coat, brown shoes and silk stockings, a black dress trimmed with green, her hair braided over her head, she kept her eyes toward the floor.

R. H. Moore, Indian agent, and three Indians, were the only spectators.

The woman's husband, who was at the cabin at the time of her arrest, is a swamper on a coal truck.

H. W. Davey, K.C., appeared as defence counsel yesterday, and G. H. Sedger as prosecutor.

An inquest into the death will be held at Hayward's tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Navy Medical Chief Says 26 Doctors Still Needed for Permanent Force

It's not often that a reporter can interview the navy medical chief and his assistants on each coast at the same time. Both ends and the middle, so to speak.

But Surgeon Captain A. McCallum, O.B.E., V.D. medical director-general, Royal Canadian Navy, was in Victoria yesterday with Surgeon Commander G. W. Chapman, command medical officer, Atlantic Coast, to inspect naval units here which are under the command of Surgeon Commander H. R. Ruttan, command medical officer, Pacific Coast.

When war broke out in 1939, the navy didn't have a hospital bed in which to put a patient, Dr. McCallum said. Now there are naval hospitals on both the Pacific and the Atlantic coasts, with a capacity of 600 beds.

"It was a fascinating experience to see the navy medical service built up from nothing at all; it was broadening and enriching to all who took part in it."

Four hundred and sixty-five doctors were in the navy medical service during the war.

"We had 406 in uniform on V-J Day and now we have 50 left. About a dozen of these are to be demobilized shortly. Twelve of the remaining 38 have come into the permanent force, so that leaves us with 26 more to find before September, 1947.

"We expect to have about 38 medical officers for our peacetime navy of 10,000. So you can see that we have a dandy buck-log to start with."

The medical director-general saw much service at sea during the Great War, serving as medical officer on board a sloop doing convoy duty, and with a mine-sweeping flotilla. With the cessation of hostilities he transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy in 1921 and remained as fleet medical officer until the naval medical service was taken over by the R.C.A.M.C., when he resigned his commission and returned to private practice in Toronto.

However, he retained his connection with the navy through the R.C.N.V.R., and with the outbreak of war in 1939 was immediately ordered on active service and charged with the responsibility of organizing the navy's medical services. He was appointed medical director-general in February, 1940, and retained this position during the war years.

SENT OFFICERS TO HOSPITALS

During the war he inaugurated a policy of sending medical officers with two or three years overseas service back to civilian hospitals for senior internships to enable them to regain lost skills, thereby furnishing at the same time much needed help to the hospitals.

Both Surgeon Commander Ruttan and Surgeon Commander Chapman saw extensive service overseas. Commander Ruttan was aboard during the blitz of Plymouth in 1940, receiving a mention-in-despatches for his services at that time. Commander Chapman also was overseas, serving in England, Scotland and Newfoundland.

Dr. McCallum thinks that many former naval medical officers are giving the matter of joining the permanent force a lot of serious thought.

"No doubt many of them, upon completion of their refresher and post-graduate courses, will look around at civilian practice and decide that life in the navy was very pleasant and offered a type of practice they enjoyed.

"Once a man has had a sniff of bacon grease, spilled on the galley stove as the old ship shivered in a heavy green sea, he finds it difficult to put such a life behind him," the navy medical chief said.

Province Retains Oil Lands Rights

A reserve prohibiting prospecting for or acquiring petroleum or natural gas in the Peace River area south of the Peace River itself and in the whole of the Fernie land registry district has been imposed by the Provincial Government in an order in council handed down yesterday.

This action was taken under an amendment to the Petroleum and Natural Gas Act passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Its effect is to reserve to the Crown the sole right of prospecting for or developing these resources in the areas defined. Similar action was taken by the Government earlier this year in respect to other potential oil-bearing tracts in Northern British Columbia.

Building Permit Total Is $71,990

Building permits, totalling $71,990, were issued during the week ending June 15 in Greater Victoria. Figures were lower than for some weeks previously.

In the city of Victoria the total was $26,810 covering 21 permits. Two of these were dwellings and there was one permit issued for a duplex to cost $6,500.

No permits were issued by Oak Bay, the only item being an alteration to a duplex which cost $500.

Twenty permits, of a total value of $44,680 were issued by Saanich.

Plan New Church In Elk Lake Area

A building permit for $5,000 for the construction of a new Baptist Church at Elk Lake has been issued to the British Columbia Baptist Convention.

The structure will be erected on the east side of the East Saanich Road on property 95 by 125 feet, it was reported. A 95-foot culvert will be installed between the property and the highway by the Provincial Government.

Finished on the outside with cedar siding, the church will have a full cement basement and a low belfry tower.

The new church will be a community endeavor, W. N. Finlay, chairman of the committee in charge, stated. Residents of Elk Lake have provided $2,000 in cash and labor to build the church, he said.

Excavation work will be commenced within the next few days.

Undertake Study Of Legal Forms

The juvenile and probation officers' committee will undertake a study of legal forms used in connection with the Juvenile Court work with the hopes that this practice might become standardized throughout the Victoria area, it was decided at a meeting of the body.

Further study is to be given to recent publications of the National Probation Association concerning principals and practices of detention facilities for the Juvenile Court. The committee has made recommendations to the Board of the Children's Aid Society, who are preparing a brief for the municipalities on detention home facilities.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall, of the Juvenile Court, will be asked to meet with the committee in September, and Miss Marjorie Smith, professor of social work of the University of British Columbia, has agreed to meet with the group in the Fall to take up case studies dealing with delinquent children.

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP)—In a statement issued today, Herbert Anscomb, newly-elected Progressive Conservative party leader for British Columbia, expressed appreciation of the confidence expressed in him by members of the party and said that all were united in an effort to give the best that was possible for good government.

Clearly defining the position of his party in the coalition, Mr. Anscomb said:

"I am not prepared to support formation of a new Coalition party, the result of which would only make an additional political party in the Province which would be detrimental.

"There is no need for such a move. The present working arrangement between the two great parties is very satisfactory, and all that is required during the emergency.

"Premier Hart and his colleagues have been very fair in their dealings with our members, and have faithfully carried out all the understandings that we have had with them, and it is very evident that the great mass of the thinking people of the Province desire the present working arrangement to continue."

The new leader said that the Conservative party did not propose to lose its identity under any set of circumstances.

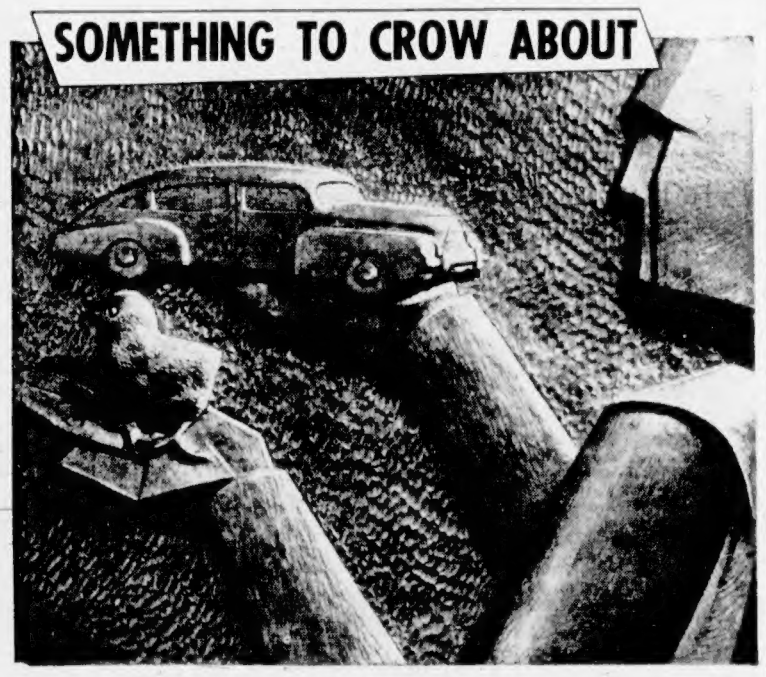
SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT



Canada's great natural resources provide rich soil in which small industries take firm root. Carefully cultivated . . . they grow with every new, scientific invention which better serves the needs of mankind.

Consider, for instance, the announcement that a new type of electric brooder for poultry is being planned . . . a tiny offshoot of Canada's primary iron industry. How small it seems when compared with automobiles, agricultural implements, structural steel and machinery . . . all stemming from the same source. Yet there are 148 plants producing various iron and steel products, that employ fewer than 100 people each, which provide a livelihood for 13,860 individuals and their dependents.

It is these small and diversified businesses which promise to contribute much to Canada's prosperity in the years to come. Banking credit is one of the essentials in the development of these small businesses and this Bank will co-operate in bringing to fruition the plans of enterprising Canadians. 05-46

Outlawing the Bomb

The United States' proposal to create a world trusteeship for the control of nuclear energy, and to outlaw its use through atomic fission as a means of waging war, is unquestionably sincere and aimed at a high moral purpose—but can that really be obtained? The history of poison gas, unrestricted submarine warfare, area bombing and the like, is that they were used, at times in full disregard of the international convention signed by the major world states. The real issue, meanwhile, seems to lie deeper than the abrogation of any one instrument of war, however terrible, and it is the outright renunciation of war itself.

It is looking facts in the face to declare that modern warfare has long out-distanced most of the humanities and all degrees of military chivalry as well. The latest world conflict was launched by gangsters, using the methods of gangsters. Before it ended it had to be responded to in much the same way. By land, sea and air no quarter was being given, or asked. The trial now of war criminals in Europe and Japan is based principally upon acts of straight murder after the fighting had ceased—the torture and slaughter of unarmed prisoners of war. We have not heard of anyone being tried for preparing poison gas or for building submarines—yet both were "outlawed" by world convention.

What guarantee has the world that an "outlawed" atomic bomb would not become by far the most popular instrument of destruction of all? The present day costs and cumbersome nature of its manufacture may yield overnight to further discoveries. Common elements within the reach of all may yet be broken down by atomic fission, and one day on a mass production basis. A world in which atomic bombs could be made by almost anyone, and underground, would have only small stability or peace. It would be like a paddock in which small children played with nitroglycerine or dynamite, all the sweeter for being forbidden. In short, the outlawing of any instrument has never prevented its manufacture.

It is deeper than this that the world must look for its own salvation. If the root causes of war—misunderstanding, cupidity, ignorance, and want—cannot be eradicated and upon a world plane, wars there will be to the end of human time. The United Nations' Charter pledged an united effort to that end. Nobody supposed that it could be attained overnight. Concurrence on nuclear energy may indeed be a first step—as a secret it was the most highly explosive factor of all—but it can never be the last one. Merely to "outlaw" the atomic bomb would be to endorse war, which fifty odd nations of the world have sworn to see lapse from the face of the earth. Even while this offer is being made, preparations go forward at Bikini to determine how battleships, with their strange complements of pigs, goats and rats, will react to atomic bombs.

Ports and Trade

Canada is geared to the exporting of a high percentage of her production, especially in primary industries, to recover her trade position in the postwar world. It is true that manufactures have developed and that in consequence secondary production has become a notable factor; but there too the need for export markets is real. If at the present moment we are lending others the money so that they may buy from us, that will not always be so. It is additional proof that this nation cannot sustain the level of production it reached in war without world trade; and that trade, of course, on a two-way basis. A number of consequences flow from that. The necessity for putting all Canadian deep-sea ports in shape is one of them.

Victoria has pleaded, cajoled, argued, and sometimes even ranted, about its geographical position on the Pacific. It is both the first and the last port of call on steamer routes crossing the Pacific, touching Australia and New Zealand, and also on the long intercoast and United Kingdom runs. It is one of some five main ports that Canada controls on the Pacific, which is the undeveloped ocean of the world. So far, the Dominion has viewed this port as a terminal for ferry boats, towboats and fishing boats. Although its customs and excise reports could tell it differently, Ottawa has never become really conscious of the deep-sea trade that can be tapped first here.

We say again that Greater Victoria's nine-point harbor brief is urgent national business. Implementing it would add a major developed port to Canada's economy, with all that would flow from that. The case is an integrated one, one item resting on all of the others. A safe deep-sea harbor, adequate wharfage and dockage facilities, a good roadstead, segregation of coastwise shipping, clear channels and dredging are its fundamentals. The Gorge-Esquimalt canal would be a natural protection against resilting. To modernize the Ogden Point docks without proper sea protection would be wasted. Victoria needs that protection first. All the rest would follow.

A Boomerang

Ex-servicemen who want to make use of their re-establishment credits on the purchase of a home are prohibited from paying the usual commission fee to any real estate agent, and the latter is not permitted to accept one. This provision, while it did scant justice to thousands of reputable business agencies, was designed to protect war veterans from exploitation by unscrupulous firms or individuals. It was well intended, but it has proved to be a boomerang for the ex-serviceman, and needs to be changed. It shuts him out from almost all contact with properties publicly offered for sale.

Real estate agents cannot be expected to devote their services gratuitously to finding homes for veterans and conducting the negotiations that result in a sale. The result is that the veteran has to try to find a place on his own, and is unable to make use of the listings carried regularly by dealers. Since practically all properties for sale are listed through real estate agents, he is left groping in the dark and debarred from the main source of supply.

Most complaints against this prohibition come not from real estate agents but from ex-servicemen, who would willingly pay the legitimate commission charged by agents. Without their aid and advice, veterans are at a disadvantage in securing the kind of homes they want, and which the variety listed by dealers would make available to their selection.

In actual fact the individual veteran is more liable to exploitation during private sale negotiations than otherwise. He is then without the expert counsel that reputable agencies are in a position to supply, and this city is full of such competent and trustworthy concerns. Negotiations for the purchase of a home present their own intricacies, and it would seem sensible that ex-servicemen should not be deprived of the services of those who specialize in this line of business. The veteran himself has requested that he should be allowed to utilize them, at the regular fee, and some attention should be paid to his desires. The prohibition should be withdrawn.

The Art Centre

Correspondents have drawn attention to the exhibition of pictures now on view at the Little Art Centre, 965 Yates Street, in an effort to induce more patronage of this praiseworthy project. The attempt to establish a permanent centre in this city where arts and crafts may be placed on show, of which the present exhibition is a modest beginning, warrants a keener interest than has been forthcoming in the pressure of the times.

The pictures now on view are those which have been shown across Canada, and which have particular interest for Victorians since they are the work of that gifted artist of this city, the late Miss Emily Carr. They have been loaned for exhibition by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and will be leaving the Coast in a week's time. The opportunity to see them, therefore, should not be missed. Miss Carr's paintings have established the contribution of this remarkable woman, who was born in Victoria and devoted her life to the portrayal by pen and brush of an era now past.

Victoria has long been considered a city where grace of living was accounted a not inconspicuous characteristic. That virtue should embrace a just appreciation of such ventures as the Little Art Centre.

Why This Delay?

Whoever is responsible for the extraordinary delay in delivering to ex-servicemen the Victory Loan bonds they were induced to earmark last October against anticipated war gratuities following discharge has much to answer for. It is almost incredible that six months after his demobilization any veteran should still await delivery of the bond he purchased in good faith by pledging his gratuity in advance.

Apparently this state of affairs is general rather than infrequent. So many ex-servicemen are in this, to them, invidious situation that local Veterans' Affairs officials have had to prepare printed slips advising the claimants where they may write for information. That, of course, is Ottawa, the home of so much bureaucratic indifference these days.

Non-delivery of the bonds has placed some veterans in an awkward financial position. The purchases were made against the coming of a rainy day, and that day has arrived for some of them. In certain cases the bonds are urgently required for the purchase of homes. The delay is inexcusable and should be rectified without further loss of time.

From "Penseroso"

And, missing thee, I walk unseen
On the dry smooth-shaven green
To behold the wandering moon,
Riding near her highest noon,
Like one that had been led astray
Through the heaven's wide pathless way,
And oft, as if her head she bowed,
Stooping through a fleecy cloud.
Oft, on a plat of rising ground,
I hear the far-off curfew sound,
Over some wide-watered shore,
Swinging slow with sullen roar;
Or, if the air will not permit,
Some still removed place will fit,
Where glowing embers through the room
Teach light to counterfeit a gloom,
Far from all resort of mirth,
Save the cricket on the hearth,
Or the bellman's drowsy charm
To bless the doors from nightly harm.

New U.N. Home

NEW YORK, June 17.—Hundreds of workmen today are refurbishing the grounds of the old world of tomorrow in Flushing Meadow Park for the architects of the new world of tomorrow, who meet here in September.

After six years of desolation, the [illegible] the Old World's Fair was being refurbished today in rapid style to prepare the park for its new tenant —the United Nations' General Assembly.

The fair grounds are being cleared and the assembly meeting hall prepared at a cost of $2,313,860 to its donor—the City of New York.

It is not anticipated that the public will flock to view of the entire U.N. in operation in anything like the droves which clicked the World's Fair turnstiles 45,000,000 times; but the Long Island Railroad is preparing for any contingency by rebuilding the platforms which were used when the fair was in full swing.

A visitor to Flushing Meadow Park today would find it hard to believe a large sign in front of the World's Fair New York City Building, which reads: "To be completed in August." There seems to be so much work still to be done.

ASSEMBBLY AUDITORIUM

The conversion of the city building into an auditorium for the 51-nation assembly, with attached offices, lounges, committee rooms and cafeteria is progressing with more than 200 workmen busy on the project.

Landscaping of the ground, overgrown with weeds since the World's Fair closed its doors in October, 1940, seems to present the biggest difficulty, although that, too, is scheduled to be finished on August 15. About 100 workmen are toiling on the grounds—cutting grass, laying out extravagant flower beds, pruning and planting trees and trimming hedges.

The scene of the heaviest activity by gardeners is the circular pool located in front of the former site of the tryion and perisphere. The pool is being filled in to make a garden 310 feet in diameter which will be planted with late-flowering plants and surrounded with the flags of the 51 nations.

Many flowers already have been planted, and when the delegates to the assembly arrive in September they will see almost 45,000 flowers in full bloom. In the gardens will be ageratums, petunias, santolinas and marigolds arranged in pleasing color schemes.

TO COST $1,410,060

Renovation of thte 410-foot city building, which recently was used as a skating rink, is costing $1,410,060. The building is being divided into two equal parts. In the north side will be the auditorium, seating approximately 2,500. A balcony around the meeting hall will be for press, radio and television services. The south side will be for conference rooms and offices.

Near what used to be the Rose Court, directly north of the main building, a cafeteria and restaurant are being constructed. The cafeteria in this annex will be for the press, public and U.N. employees. In contrast to the set-up at Hunter College, assembly delegates and their staffs, expected to total about 510 persons, will eat in a regular dining-room.

The heat of Indian Summer will be combatted by an air-cooling system plant which made ice for skating.

Not all the park is being restored, and large sections of it remain desolate, weed-covered and forgotten. The portion being renovated comprises what was the main exhibition area of the fair.

From The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph: "To be a good citizen you must be honest, obey the law and work hard. If that does not make you happy it will at least make you conspicuous" . . . When France was liberated, the French Ministry of Reconstruction found 509,000 houses had been destroyed, 2,294,500,000 cubic feet of rubble created, and 35,000,000 bomb craters made. Along the Atlantic coast, 988,000 acres of vineyards, farms and pasture lands had been strewn with German mines . . . In the United Kingdom, 461,009 acres of land sown with sugar beets last year produced 519,000 tons of sugar. Spain refined 135,078 tons of beet sugar and 93,000 tons was made in Eire. . . . Some persons who scoffed at thrifty citizens dragging driftwood up the steep steps of Beacon Hill Park beaches are now themselves hauling home firewood. Before the end of Summer a lot of others will be in the same boat . . . From an Oak Bay reader: "Esquimalt and Oak Bay district beaches are subject to much broken glass from bottles washed ashore and in some cases tossed there by citizens. The bottles are gleefully smashed by small boys between four and 14 years of age, sometimes under the adoring gaze of parents. Boys will be boys. By every picnic spot and roadside parking place in otherwise beautiful surroundings we find this curse of broken bottles. A provincial act, publicity and parent education might help" . . . Among primitive tribes it is believed a person can avert imminent danger by changing his name. Police say the same quaint belief persists in North America.

It is estimated that 4,000,000 Americans visit Canada every year.

THE UNDERGROUND LAUGHS

Twenty New Towns to Hold Million People

By BETTY HOW

LONDON.—The customers who dropped in recently for their nightly beer and gossip at the Yorkshire Grey in Stevenage, a small town near London, gave the ancient tavern more excitement than it had seen since highwayman Dick Turpin stopped there on his famous ride to York.

For the people of Stevenage had just learned that their 1,000-year-old town had been chosen for a remarkable experiment by the British Government. The talk buzzed that within the next few years Stevenage will be transformed from a market town of 6,000 inhabitants to an industrial centre of 50,000 people. This is part of the New Towns Bill, the latest addition to Britain's sweeping program of rehousing and national planning.

This bill proposes that 20 scientifically planned, self-contained satellite towns, each accommodating a population up to 50,000 shall be built outside cities such as London, Manchester and Birmingham. This will mean homes for nearly 1,000,000 people.

Between the two World Wars, two-fifths of Britain's population was concentrated in seven great industrial centres of a million or more inhabitants. As the industries expanded, housing developments for workers in these industries spilled further and further over the surrounding countryside. Areas which had once been suburbs were swallowed up in the unorganized advance. Britain became a land of commuters, for millions of people had to travel long distances to work through sprawling suburbs. The new plan will change that.

Certain industries such as coal mining and shipbuilding cannot be moved, but there are many which will flourish practically anywhere, provided they are located near good transport facilities and an abundant supply of labor.

The development of the new towns will be in the hands of Government-appointed corporations who will draw up the plans and have the power to buy any land needed. Many of the houses and factories will be built at Government expense, but private enterprise will be encouraged. The estimated cost of building one of these new towns is about $75,000,000.

"But why does Stevenage have to be a guinea pig?" grumbled some of the customers at the Yorkshire Grey. "We like it just the way it is."

They asked: "Why should our historic town, which was listed in William the Conqueror's Doomsday Book, be changed? What will happen to us if our property is taken over?"

So Mr. Lewis Silkin, the Minister of Town and Country Planning, came to a town's meeting, and told the people: "All that is good in old Stevenage will be preserved. The town will not be utterly demolished but the new town will be superimposed on the existing one. About 100 houses will have to be razed, however, to make room for some large buildings. No one will be asked to give up his property without adequate compensation, or asked to move out of his present house without being provided with one equally as good."

Stevenage was chosen because it is near the most overcrowded section of London. It will attract various industries, for it is well situated on a main railway line and road from London to the industrial north. It is far enough from London to be out in a "green belt" which will be carefully safeguarded.

At present Stevenage is clustered on one side of the railway and has only one large industry, the manufacture of school desks. Under the plan for its transformation the railway will run through the centre of the town, with factories on one side and houses on the other. Just opposite the industrial section will be the civic centre, shopping district, banks, theatres and restaurants.

Around these will be grouped five residential "neighborhoods," each with its own shopping and community centre and schools. In order to attract a mixture of people of various income groups the houses will differ in size and style.—United Kingdom Information Bureau.

Speculative penalty doubles are not for average players and, as a matter of fact, it must be admitted that the greatest experts often "fall on their faces" in this particular department. Nevertheless it is an indisputable fact that some of the most profitable doubles are those which are not so much based on the doubler's holding as on his "ear for the bidding." Take a case like today's, for example.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH

The bidding:

2 N.T.	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 N.T.	Double	Pass	Pass

West opened the club queen and declarer soon found that his 4½ honor-tricks were not nearly enough. Of course, they would have been except for the bad diamond break, but the way the cards lay, South did well to hold the penalty to 500 points.

It should be observed that West put his neck out in no uncertain manner when he doubled three no-trump. So far as his hand alone was concerned, he might not take more than one or perhaps two tricks. Yet, on the bidding, the double was not nearly as risky as it looked. North, after showing the values for a two-over-one response, had backed away from a game contract in no-trump. He had not only refused to bid two no-trump himself when South showed both majors, but had declined to raise South's own two no-trump venture to game. Thus it was almost sure that North could not redouble if West doubled, and as for South—the three no-trump bid must have been speculative, because if South had had the hand for it, he would have jumped to three no-trump over two diamonds, without giving North the chance to pass at two hearts.

VICTORIA ENTRIES

Sir,—I am sending you this letter hoping it will reach the girls and boys who took part in the Rose Festival here last week. This is just a few lines from a well-wisher who saw, met and walked with, your [illegible]

Being vice-commander of U.S.A. Post 17, Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, I have, as you know, attended lots of meetings and parades, but never have I met a better group of youngsters as your Victoria Girls' Drill Team, Victoria Boys' Band, and Girls' Pipe Band.

There was no one more happy and proud that I was, when your good Capt. Foster asked me to carry the colors for the Victoria group. I have never enjoyed doing such a job as I did at that time.

It was a long, hard march, but your girls' drill team came out like veterans, and did excellent work.

Their drill marching was excellent, the boys' band played marches grand, and the girl bagpipers were also excellent.

I am writing this just as a personal note, wishing all the good folks of Victoria could have heard the comments heard and passed on to me. Everyone gave the highest praise possible to your happy "kids," not only for their drill and march, but for their general behaviour on the streets. Everyone says and tells me the girls are the best behaved and most ladylike bunch seen.

The folks and myself at the hotel here, where your girls' drill team stayed, were very sad and regretted very much when they left Sunday for their homes.

I shall be very glad to have a post card from any of that group, and if any of them, or their parents visit Portland, I shall be very happy if they will drop in and see me and say "Cheerio."

Being a Britisher, it made me very happy to hear such lovely things about them.

Hope they enjoyed the trip as much as I did while with them.

Good luck, boys and girls of the Rose Festival group, you did grand. Visit me while you are in Portland. Good luck to your parents and families in Victoria.

Wasting of Precious Time by Liberals Doesn't Build Houses, Pearkes States

Censure of Federal policy-makers who have wasted precious time on matters of lesser importance, "which do not get one single house built, reduce taxation by one dollar, nor send one pound of food to Europe," was voiced last night by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P. for Nanaimo, while on a two-day visit to Victoria.

Reporting on the four-month-old session, General Pearkes said that apart from the nonsensical bill regarding a change of name for Dominion Day, the Citizenship Bill, and other matters, the session showed two interesting trends. First of these was the determination of the "Ginger Group" of young French-Canadian Liberals to emphasize extreme nationalism; the second was the drift of the Liberal party toward socialism, with consequent favor from C.C.F. members.

"Their difference is no longer one of degree, but one of principle," General Pearkes declared. "There is a definite left-wing group in the Liberal party determined to supply the lock with the C.C.F." There is no middle course between democracy and socialism, he warned. French-Canadian extremists, he added, did not represent the views held by all in Quebec. Many there realized that the best hope of permanent peace lay in strengthening of the Commonwealth of British Nations.

Commenting on the loss in wages and lumber production caused by strikes, General Pearkes said division of responsibility between Federal and provincial boards created nothing but confusion.

He advocated a complete Federal labor code to deal with disputes between labor and management. Under the present setup, he pointed out, labor relations disputes must be handled by a Conciliation Board, while wages came under the authority of Federal War Labor Boards.

"Both wages and labor relations are under dispute in this as in every other strike or lockout," Gen. Pearkes declared, "and this division of responsibility makes it difficult to obtain any agreement."

"While people are starving in Europe and Asia, no one in Canada is justified in permitting food to be wasted."

The member said he was gratified at the enthusiasm and keen spirit he had seen at the Provincial Progressive Conservative Convention held last week in Vancouver. Mr. Pearkes flew west to attend the parley as representative of John Bracken and Conservative House members.

"I feel sure that Mr. Anscomb has all the qualities for leadership. He has a wide experience both in municipal and provincial fields."

Widely attended, the convention showed that the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia was in a very healthy condition, he said.

General Pearkes returns to Ottawa today.

I.W.A. Leave Camp Clean

Over 2,000 striking lumber workers housed at Macaulay Camp Friday night after a mass lobby at the Parliament Buildings during the afternoon "did no damage whatsoever" and left the camp "nice and clean," J. W. Oosterink, city building inspector, stated yesterday after an inspection of the building.

Praising the workers for their orderly conduct, Mayor Percy E. George stated he was very happy to note that they had lived up to their promise and left everything in first class order.

New Pound District—By Provincial order in council the Sahtlam district of Vancouver Island has been constituted a pound district.

Stowaway—City police removed Rose Stark, 21, stowaway, from the Ss. Tipperary Park off Williams Head. She was returned to Vancouver. The action followed a wireless message from the ship.

Daylight Saving—City of Courtenay's daylight saving time by law, passed under the "emergency" section of the Municipal Act, has been approved by the Provincial Government.

Censor Retires—Mrs. Mabel E. H. Hawkshaw, assistant censor in the office of the censor of motion pictures under the Attorney-General's Department, has retired from Provincial Civil Service.

Wire Severed—Mrs. J. Millen, 119 Regina Avenue, told city police yesterday a telephone wire leading to Vic's Taxi office at the rear of the Westholme Hotel had been torn from the wall. The wire had previously been tampered with on several occasions, she stated.

Fined for Theft—Convicted on a charge of stealing lumber under the value of $25, Chow Sun Fook was fined $25 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court yesterday morning. Constable J. Barlow said he saw the accused take two pieces of two by four from a lot at Herald and Government and captured him after a foot chase. The accused tried to bribe him with $5, he testified.

Victorians Seeking Most Unpopular Post Take Heed of Truant Officer Opening

IF any Victorian would enjoy the title of "the world's most unpopular person," just watch for an advertisement by the Greater Victoria School Board for an additional truant officer.

This bad news for local school children, in whom the desire for knowledge is only loosely imbedded, came out of last night's board meeting when it was announced that the present attendance officer, George Stuart, "has too large a territory under his jurisdiction and can neither [illegible] efficiently under present arrangements."

Another blow for students with a yen for the theatre or fishing during school hours is the intention of the board to endeavor to employ a man with an automobile. Pupils whose fastest mode of transportation is a bicycle may find it difficult to keep one leap ahead now.

"Build Most Effective Force" Aim of City R.C.A.F. Campaign

Embarking upon an intensive program aimed at "building the most effective force possible," the Royal Canadian Air Force yesterday opened a recruiting office here at 411 Post Office Building.

In charge of Flt. Lt. D. J. Patterson, Patricia Bay, the office will interview and test prospective recruits in the various basic trades and classifications.

Only applicants for ground crew are being accepted at the present time, and those passing the preliminary check here are sent to Vancouver for medical examination and final attestation.

Ability to learn and aptitude in their chosen trade are among the qualifications subjected to strict tests here, Flt. Lt. Patterson said yesterday. Relatively high qualifications and rigid tests of would-be recruits are necessary to ensure the air force training program will proceed as rapidly and efficiently as possible and to eliminate "the square peg in the round hole," he stated.

For recruits with no previous service experience, age limits are from 18 to 25 years. Married men are not accepted in this category. Skilled recruits, who have previously served in the navy or army, are accepted up to 30 years of age plus the number of years' service in other armed forces. They must, however, be able to complete at least ten years' service before reaching compulsory retirement age.

Junior matriculation is the usual minimum educational standard, but this may be varied to suit individual cases, the recruiting officer stated.

Most applicants are being enrolled in the mechanical trades, with clerical and photographic branches following in that order.

An attractive career is promised by the air force to those accepted. It was pointed out that the remuneration is good, hours of work and working conditions the best obtainable, and a generous pension awaits those completing their term. It has been estimated that a married man, on enlistment in the air force, receives in wages and services an amount equal to a salary of $150 monthly in civilian life.

Flt. Lt. Patterson stated he plans to make personal visits to outlying districts around Victoria in the near future. Present hours at the new office are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, but it is hoped to open an evening office shortly.

Thomas Mitchell Heads Machinists

Thomas A. Mitchell was elected president of the National Union of Machinists, Fitters and Helpers (C.C.L.) at a meeting here last week. S. W. Dalyey was chosen vice-president and W. Harrison, warden.

During a report on progress of the Shipyard General Workers' Federation co-ordinating committee in Vancouver, George Taggart told the meeting that final arrangements for negotiating the 40-hour week were expected to get under way shortly.

John Cornthwaite, secretary of the Machinists' Union, reported a further $162 had been subscribed by members to the I.W.A. fund, bringing the total donated to $339.

The Machinists' Union went on record as unanimously endorsing the stand taken by the striking woodworkers.

Hunt Two Gunmen Here Who Failed in Holdups

Police were seeking two gunmen and several thieves after a minor crime wave hit Greater Victoria over the week-end.

Shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday a man entered the office of the Albany Hotel, where the proprietor, H. W. Laird, was asleep. He flashed a gun and demanded money.

When Laird refused to comply with the request the man struck him on the nose and forehead with the gun butt and fled. Laird was taken to Jubilee Hospital for treatment.

Saanich police are looking for a second gunman who attempted to rob Lee Kong, storekeeper, at 3383 Douglas Street.

Appearing at the back door of the shop late Saturday night, he asked for some cigarettes and then pulled out a gun. When the proprietor slammed the door in his face the man fled.

C. T. Annett, of the United Home Securities, 115-116 Stobart Building, reported $135 in cash and several cheques and money orders removed from the office over the week-end. Entrance was made by opening a window, he reported.

A window was smashed and a double barrel shotgun stolen from the shop of Henry Israel, second-hand dealer at 541 Johnson Street.

Two homes were entered in Oak Bay with a flashlight reported missing from 3315 Ripon Road and a cigarette lighter, cigarettes and cigars from 3029 Uplands Road. Police Chief Hugh Reston said drawers and cupboards in both homes were ransacked and articles scattered about the rooms. Considerable jewelry in each home was not removed.

Two wrist watches and several articles of jewelry were reported missing from a Saanich home apparently broken into Sunday evening and $18 to $20 in cash in a purse was reported to city police as being missing from a suite at 1015 Moss Street.

Clothing Drive Gets Under Way

"The devastation and want is on so vast a scale in Europe as to be almost beyond our comprehension," was the comment that William M. Birks, national chairman of the Canadian Allied Relief campaign for used clothing, made on reading some of the reports received from relief workers. "Millions are now inadequately clad for Winter weather, for health and for self-respect, and relief workers are doing their utmost with the supplies at their disposal to alleviate the suffering of the destitute homeless, looted people. That is why the Canadian people are being asked to go through their wardrobes and clothes closets once more to see what Canada can do to help. The National Clothing Collection, which has the fullest support of the Canadian Government, will take place from June 17 to June 29, and I am confident that, with the well-known generosity that is so characteristic of the Dominion, its objective will be achieved.

"Everything is needed—coats, suits, trousers, dresses, shirts, sweaters, knitwear, pyjamas, shoes and overshoes, in fact, everything that you and your family wear. The gift of a coat and of shoes tied in pairs makes the difference between despair and renewed faith."

Many letters of thanks have been received by Canadian donors who enclosed their names and addresses with their gifts last year. This year they will not only be able to give their addresses, but they will be permitted to enclose, in a pocket of a garment, a message of goodwill. The gift will thus take on a personal character, and as such will do much to build up the morale of the recipient. The knowledge that someone in Canada is not only thinking of them, but is taking a practical means of showing their sympathy with them in their distress, will mean much to people who have endured the sufferings of war for so many terrible years.

The collection will be made next Saturday, June 22, in Victoria and Esquimalt, and on Sunday, June 23, in Oak Bay and Saanich. All citizens are asked to leave their bundles at their doorsteps to be called for.

London Market

LONDON, June 17 (Reuters).—Announcement that a mission is proceeding to Argentina to discuss financial and economic questions brought favorable comment in stock market circles today. One immediate reaction was an all-round rise in Argentine rails and a climb for Anglo-Argentine industrials. Copper shares reversed last week's trend, but lead and zinc issues made fresh headway. Oil shares were quietly easier.

Romansch is a language derived from Latin and spoken by some 44,000 Swiss.

Montreal Stocks

MONTREAL, June 17 (CP).—Paced by industrials, most key groups were higher in the indices in trading up to the final hour today on the Stock Exchange and Curb Market.

Sensational Film At the Dominion

Local movie-goers will have an opportunity to see Darryl F. Zanuck's epoch-making Technicolor production, "Wilson," the 20th Century-Fox hit, acclaimed as the greatest entertainment ever to come to the screen when it opens today at the Dominion Theatre.

Heading the outstanding cast of the hit which Henry King directed from the screen play by Lamar Trotti are Alexander Knox, Charles Coburn and Geraldine Fitzgerald.

ATLAS THEATRE Joan Bennett chases Mischa Auer. Auer pursues an organ grinder, the organ grinder chases his monkey, the monkey runs after a Cairn terrier and the terrier chases a Russian wolfhound. It is all in a sequence that was shot on location in a Pasadena private park for Edward Small's farce comedy, "Twin Beds," which is now at the Atlas Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE Nine-year-old Connie Marshall, who started her acting career as a pumpkin in a Thanksgiving pageant, is today being hailed as one of the most brilliant child screen discoveries for her outstanding performance in "Sentimental Journey," the new 20th Century-Fox hit now at the Capitol Theatre.

RIO THEATRE One of the most effective bits of musical scoring ever worked into a motion picture is heard in "Voice in the Wind," the stirring romantic drama now playing at the Rio Theatre through United Artists release. In the highly dramatic movie, David Cota, portraying a murderous Italian sailor, plays a one-finger piano selection. The composition was written by the well-known French composer, Michel Michelet.

Amusements

ON THE SCREEN

Atlas—Joan Bennett and George Brent star in "Twin Beds."

YORK THEATRE "Raffles," in which a television set of the future is being used, is an up-to-the-minute reproduction of one of the most valuable entertainment properties in the show business. The film was directed by Sam Wood, with Dame May Whitty, Dudley Digges, Lionel Pape, Douglas Walton and others in support of David Niven and Olivia de Havilland.

Cards Drop Braves For Double Victory

Grab Both Ends of Twin Bill, 9-6 and 1-0—Browns Down Red Sox, 7-1—Phils Win Again

When a team brings in five runs in the first inning of a game, what chance have their opponents

That's what happened in Boston, in the only National Leaguer scheduled yesterday afternoon, when St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Braves, 9-6, in the opener of their doubleheader.

The Cards also took the nightcap, 1-0.

The second was a tightly-played contest, Howie Pollet allowing the Braves only six hits and big Bill Lee the Cards seven. The only run was scored after an error in a potential double play.

Ernie White made his first start since 1942, when he played with the Red Birds, in the first game and lasted long enough to hurl to four batters and allow three runs.

They scored single runs in the second, the fourth—Stan Musial's fifth home run—the fifth and sixth.

The Braves fought hard, outhitting the Cards, 15-14, but could only make single runs in the second, third, seventh and eighth and two in the fifth. Phil Masi socked his third circuit clout in the seventh.

The Phillies continued their effort to get out of the National League cellar by defeating Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3, at Philadelphia in the only night game in the senior major loop.

The only night contest in the American League saw St. Louis Browns trounce the circuit-leading Bostons Red Sox, 7-1, at St. Louis. The Browns' nine hits included successive home runs by Johnny Berardino and Vern Stephens and a double by Hank Helf which brought in three runs.

George Metkovich notched Boston's only run in the third when Johnny Pesky drove on to Berardino.

The St. Louis victory was Jack Kramer's seventh against one loss.

Victorians Star As Nanaimo Whips Burrards

NANAIMO, June 17 (CP).—Weathering a torrid five-goal final-period offensive, Nanaimo's Intermediate All-Stars Saturday night played through for an 18-17 triumph over the visiting Vancouver Burrard senior lacrosse squad at the Civic Arena before a crowd of more than 1,400.

Overcoming a 7-4 first-period deficit, Nanaimo raced into a 10-9 edge at the half and were out in front, 15-12, as the teams took the floor for the closing chapter. It was this panel that saw the classy Vancouverites outscore Nanaimo, 5-3.

The victors had a tower of strength in the addition of Victorians Norm Baker, Arnie Ferguson, Daryl Popham, Duff McCaghey and Fred Ransom, who accounted for 12 of the 18 goals between them.

Louis and Conn All Set For Title Bout Tomorrow

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.J., June 17 (CP).—Billy Conn and Joe Louis broke their New Jersey training camps tonight and prepared to return to New York for their world's boxing championship match at Yankee Stadium Wednesday night.

Each boxed four rounds today, but their activity was largely to give some of the hundreds of out-of-town newspapermen a chance to see them and pick a winner. Conn sharpened his speed against Sammy Schipani, a fast welterweight from Pittsburgh, while Joe, who trains at Pompton Lakes, N.J., worked against his stable of outstanding spar mates.

CONN BACKERS APPEAR AS RINGTIME APPROACHES

As ringtime approached a barrage of Conn money cut the odds against the Pittsburgher to 5 to 11½, but it was expected that a deluge of Harlem money would be dumped into the betting mill Wednesday to force the odds on Louis up to possibly 3 to 1.

The great negro champion has always had tremendous support from his own people and they have been turning out in vast numbers to see him train. On Sunday—Joe's last major day in the sparring ring—nearly 5,000 paid $1.30 apiece to see the Alabama-born titleholder work out and more than half were negroes. Many were buying seats to the fight and $100 bills were flying around as they gobbled up Conn money in the vicinity.

BOTH FIGHTERS SHARP AS TRAINING GRIND ENDS

Louis, at the end of his last training period, looked fit and sharp.

Conn was in good mental and physical shape, too. He summed it up today with: "The easy part comes now—all I have to do is meet Joe."

Promoter Mike Jacobs, confident as to the financial outcome, said today: "We have over $2,000,000 in and we're a cinch to go over $2,500,000. We're pretty sure of breaking the record ($2,658,660 for the second Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1927). And I'm not quitting yet on the hope of hitting $3,000,000."

Joe will get 40 per cent, or about $1,000,000, and Conn about $500,000.

Traded to Browns

JEFF HEATH

Much-traveled major league slugger, who joined the St. Louis Browns Sunday after being traded away by the Washington Senators. The Browns gave up Outfielder Joe Grace and Pitcher Al LaMacchia in return for Heath in a straight player transaction. Other major league deals consummated before the June 15 deadline included: Billy Herman from the Brooklyn Dodgers to the Boston Braves in exchange for Catcher Stu Hofferth; purchase of Danny Litwhiler from the St. Louis Cardinals by the Boston Braves, and the signing of Vince DiMaggio by the Washington Senators.

Conn to Yodel

LOS ANGELES, June 17 (AP).—Heavyweight Challenger Billy Conn is confidently looking forward to a profitable sideline of singing cowboy and hillbilly songs "after I lick Joe Louis."

Coast Records, Inc., which made Conn an offer of $35,000 a year to make western recordings if he defeats the champion, said the challenger wired his acceptance today from his Greenwood Lake, N.J., training camp.

Racing Dates Set

September 6 to 21 will be the dates for the gee-gees to run at the Willows this year, it was disclosed yesterday. This season's meet will start on a Friday, rather than Saturday as heretofore, in order that the closing day will be a Saturday.

Earle Lewis, formet assistant steward, will probably be the presiding steward in the absence of Dr. W. J. McKeon, who is now in that position at Longacres in Seattle. Clay Puett will be starter.

Lester Patrick Is Mentioned As Possible N.H.L. President

NEW YORK, June 17 (CP).—National Hockey League leaders met today in the sweltering heat of Manhattan to plan their chilly season sport activities and elect a slate of officers for 1946-47.

The meeting officially gets away tomorrow, but today managers on the six N.H.L. clubs were busy discussing next Winter's schedule. Tomorrow morning the owners meet and in the afternoon the league governors congregate to decide who will be president next year and to clear away the tag end of business from the 1945-46 season.

Lester Patrick, vice-president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, New York, and former manager of New York Rangers, said the governors might talk about proposed expansions of the league.

Most important business in this line is the plan to bring an N.H.L. club to Philadelphia.

Patrick debunked the theory that Brooklyn Americans might return under the tutelage of Dutton. "The Amerks franchise is owned by Madison Square Garden," he said. "Dutton has no financial interest in it and the Garden has found that two teams are unprofitable in Manhattan. If someone—Dutton or another group—had a rink in Brooklyn, the Americans might be revived. But I don't see any possibility of that."

Another matter which may come up is the presidency. Patrick often has been mentioned for the job, with Dutton anxious to get back into the managing end, and the retirement from the Ranger leadership last Winter might clear the way for Dutton's resignation.

McLean Defeats Ed Cuppage In Uplands Golf

Defending Champion Ed Cuppage was eliminated from the Uplands Golf Club championship flight yesterday when D. McLean ended their match at the 15th green to win, 5 and 3.

Eric Hibberson advanced into the quarter-finals the hard way as he defeated Lieut. R. Stranix at the 20th hole.

First round championship flight results follow: G. K. Verley defeated Vic Painter, 3 and 1; F. Clarkson defeated L. J. Hibberson, 5 and 3; R. Morrison defeated G. G. Tynan, 4 and 3; D. McLean defeated Ed Cuppage, 5 and 3; Eric Hibberson defeated Lieut. R. Stranix (20 holes); H. Francis defeated W. Lovell, one up. Gordon Dods defeated Ken Lea, one up; R. A. Phillips-Alan Riches match has yet to be played.

All second round matches must be completed by Sunday evening, June 23. Players can arrange their own matches during the week. Draw and starting times will be posted in the clubhouse.

W. Jeune's Cygnus Captures A-Class Yachting Trophy

Sailing the last of the pre-Midsummer contest for "A" class entries at Cadboro Bay over the week-end, the star Cygnus, sailed by Skipper W. Jeunne, annexed the Royal Victoria Yacht Club trophy offered for competition between star boats by piling up the largest aggregate of points during the races run off since the opening of the season.

The victory of Cygnus, clear-cut enough, was no run-away win at that. The competition had been keen every time the boats met. When Sunday morning's course had been covered, Cygnus and Mintaka, sailed by T. Halkett, had the same number of points registered. So both skippers decided to sail off the tie Sunday afternoon. Starting at 2:20, Cygnus finished at 3:46:59 and Mintaka at 3:51:26.

The star boats were the only craft to sail on Sunday. Starting at 10:30, Cygnus finished the morning race at 12:16:41 and Mintaka at 12:22:38.

The wind was southeast in the morning and hauled to the southwest later in the day. The course was from the clubhouse to Cattle Point, to beach mark, to starting point, to Cattle Point, to beach mark, to finish line. Officer of the day was W. T. M. Barrett. The timekeeper was Commodore B. E. Nickells.

On Saturday the first race started at 2:40 when three star class boats and one lightning class boat got over the line, followed by seven snipes at 2:45, one "X" class entry at 2:50 and four "C" class cruisers at 2:55. Finishes were as follows:

Stars: Mintaka, T. Halkett, 3:37:42; Cygnus, W. Jeunne, 3:38:05; Aquila, M. Wride, 3:41:24. Lightning: Iona, G. McKinnon, 3:42:02. Snipes: Redskin, G. Nickells, 3:52:52; Restless, C. Mangrum U.S. Open Champion

CLEVELAND, June 17 (AP).—In a whirlwind finish, Lloyd Mangrum, of Los Angles, a Texas-born farm boy, snatched goldfom's biggest prize Sunday over Canterbury Golf Club's storm-menaced layout in a double playoff with Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi.

They had tied Saturday at 284, four under par, for the regulation 72 holes, and in the first playoff round Sunday morning they all shot par 72's, forcing another round. But in the final round, Mangrum took a two-stroke lead through the 16th, saw it whittled to a single stroke on the 17th green, and then hung doggedly on to win between lightning flashes, and in the glare of automobile headlights, on the final green.

He finished a single stroke ahead of his two opponents, his one-over-par five on the closing hole being good enough to maintain his edge as Ghezzi failed to down a four-foot putt which would have sent him and Mangrum into a third overtime session.

Mangrum, 31, wears the Purple Heart for shrapnel wounds received in Europe. He is a mighty mite, weighing only 145 pounds although six-feet tall.

Nelson, forced into the playoffs because of a penalty stroke assessed when his caddy accidently touched his ball in the third round, had no excuses for his defeat in the playoff.

Gorge Vale Golfers Trim Port Angeles

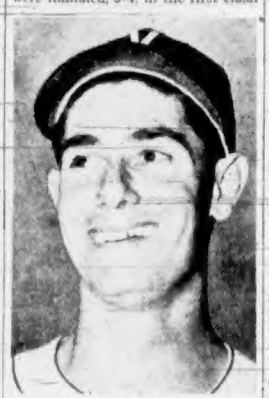
In an intercity match played at the Gorge Vale Golf Club on Sunday, the Gorge Vale team defeated visitors from the Port Angeles Club 27 1-2 points to 5 1-2 points.

Locals' total came from 13 1-2 in the singles and 14 in the four-ball rounds. The Americans had a bad day of it, netting only 3 1-2 points in the singles and 2 in the foursomes.

Buccola Breaks Up 10-Inning Thriller

First-Sacker Doubles In Deciding Run As Athletics Edge Out Capilanos, 5-4

Victoria Athletics took the first step in their all-out effort to vacate the W.I.B.L. cellar at Royal Athletic Park last night when Vic Buccola blasted out a tenth-inning double to score Frank Cirimele with the winning run as Vancouver's Capilanos were humbled, 5-4, in the first clash of the season between the two Canadian clubs.



VIC BUCCOLA

Athletics won it the hard way, losing an early 4-0 lead with a mental blunder by Al Steele and two infield ground balls which went for hits, all figuring in the scoring as the Caps counted twice in each of the fourth and seventh innings to finally tie it up.

Making his first appearance since leaving the club two weeks ago, big Tony Ferrara hurled a strong game until the late innings, when he seemed to weaken and was in constant trouble. When he walked Silverthorne in the Vancouver tenth, Manager Norbert called on Bob Jensen and the giant right-hander came through in great style to earn credit for the win.

FORMER SEATTLE HURLER KNOCKED OUT IN FIRST

Alec Palica, former member of the Rainiers, was the Cap starting choice, but went to an early shower after opening by whiffing Murphy. Steele and Cherry slammed out hard singles and both scored on Hughes' tremendous single off the scoreboard.

Bob Snyder relieved and the third run came in when Buccola and Dunn blooped out a pair of singles.

Catcher Estrada's overthrow at second and a tough error to First Baseman Estes, who lost a perfect throw in the sun, allowed Murphy to count in the second for the fourth Victoria counter.

CAPILANOS RALLY TWICE TO FORCE EXTRA INNING

A walk to Ramsey, followed by Bonnell's double, put the first two visiting batters on in the seventh. When Gulan rolled weakly to Steele, the keystoner tried to pick Ramsey off third and failed, loading the bags. One run counted as Estrada forced a runner at second and another came across when Victoria just failed to complete a double play.

Ferrara escaped being scored on again until the seventh when Estrada and Clarkson got credit for infield hits. The former was picked off second, but a walk to Kretchmar, followed by well-tagged singles by Mullens and Estes, drove over the tying runs.

When Ferrara passed, Pinch-Hitter Silverthorne to open the tenth, Norbert called on Jensen. After wild-pitching the runner to second, the fireball ace successfully retired the next three hitters.

Cirimele, who ran for Hughes in the eighth, opened with a slashing hit to right. Marionetti bunted him along and Buccola broke it up by pickling Snyder's first pitch to right centre for a two-ply wallop.

Carl Fischer, the losing pitcher, gave nine bases on balls before he retired in the seventh inning after Seattle lost a 3-2 lead.

He was still batting, having scored 101, at close of play and will resume tomorrow unless he decides to declare his side's innings closed. His return to form comes at an appropriate moment for the Indians, who meet England Saturday in the first of three test matches.

JUST A RACKET I used to say, when they started plugging Father's Day. But ever Sunday morn I've changed my mind, now I wish there was no such kind. I see him back all I can, because I got my breakfast in bed. First came orange in a crystal glass, then Quaker Oats—a cream soup. Then I scrambled on that silver tray, the G.P. got for her marriage day. But the thing I really like the most, the toast had been cut from all rich toast, which was spread sky-high with jelly. But I put inside my remorse. But the Mercade-resistance on the Frenchman Bay was the one vased rose on that monogrammed tray. Then as this thing spiraled there inbed my doctors brought gifts that went to my head, cause me was a bottle of after shave stuff, for a man with a pipe and towels that are rare, and the other was a tie, striped like a check. Oh I wish Father's Day was once every week.

POWDER BLUE is the lovely rayon on this artistic chesterfield suite. Warehoused $198.

Believe it or not, we have just listed FOURTEEN HOMES FROM $1,850 to $3,300 all with immediate or quick possession.

Forty-Five Teachers Are Appointed

Staff changes involving almost 100 teachers were approved by the Greater Victoria Board of School Trustees at their monthly meeting last night.

Forty-five teachers, who had been [illegible] ary capacities during the past year, were appointed to the permanent staff. Resignations were accepted from 16 others and leaves of absence granted to seven.

After considerable discussion it was decided that teachers whose appointments necessitated their transfer to an area in which different pay rates prevailed would remain on their old rates of pay until salary schedules were prepared to cover the entire area.

Commencing in September a new course in organic chemistry, Chemistry "C," will be added to the curriculum of Victoria College. This course carries three units of credit to be counted towards the same year at university.

A motion by Trustee Mrs. H. A. Beckwith that all janitors and cafeteria help be required to undergo the same physical examinations as teachers, was adopted.

Also adopted was a motion by Mrs. Beckwith that Dr. Hugh Clarke continue to serve the school dental needs but that the dental services be expanded and a second dentist be employed in January, 1947.

ASKS LOSS BE INVESTIGATED

Trustee Waldo Skillings asked an investigation into the net loss during May of $136.97 by the Victoria High School cafeteria. He pointed out that the Central Junior High School cafeteria made a profit of $4.99 with only a slightly smaller volume of sales during the month.

The board decided to discontinue payments of superannuation benefits for teachers in the armed forces after June 30.

The monthly grant to the visual education department at Victoria High School was raised from $45 to $60.

Playground equipment for pupils at Margaret Jenkins School will be procured if and when possible, the board decided.

W. H. Johnston was awarded the contract for painting and decorating the interiors of Quadra Street and Burnside Schools at a cost of $2,660, and the auditorium at Quadra Street School for $225.

Bowling Alleys For Tacoma Youths

TACOMA, June 17 (AP). — The Tacoma Council of Churches wants to get the youth of Tacoma off the streets, so they are planning to urge them into the alleys — bowling alleys.

With this in mind, representatives of the council today presented its plan to the city council for operating an eight-alley bowling centre.

Prevailing bowling alley fees will be charged, with discounts granted those bowling membership cards issued by churches of the city.

The alleys will be above a second-floor chapel — but the building is completely soundproofed.

Three of Victoria's Flying "Y" Swimming Club's top-flight members have been selected to represent the city at the Canadian swimming championships to be held at Hamilton, Ont., on July 5 and 6.

They are Peter Salmon, age breast-stroke artist; Jack Creedon, free-stylist, and Eric Jubb, whose specialty is the backstroke. All three have shown up exceptionally well in recent local meets, Salmon having broken the Canadian junior boys' breast-stroke record and all three having combined to set a new national mark in the junior boys' medley relay.

Decision to send the local natators was made Tuesday night at a meeting of the club executive, President George Morgan announced. Jack Todd, Marg. Naysmith, Archie McKinnon, Ina Salmon and Ron Neilson comprise the other executive members.

Present problem confronting the Flying "Y" representatives is that of finances. It is estimated that $500 will be needed to send the trio east. Part of this sum will be raised from the receipts of the "Hard Times Dance" to be held next Wednesday in the "Y" gym. Remainder of the money, it is hoped, will come from donations, and all contributions toward the fund will be gratefully received at the Y.M.C.A.

The Victorians plan to enter in 100 yards backstroke, breast-stroke and free-style swims, and, since no junior medley race is scheduled, will probably be supplemented by a Vancouver junior to compete in the 200 yards free-style event.

Hoyle-Brown Blanks Legion, 1-0

HOW THEY STAND	W.	L.	Pct.
Ciros	8	1	.889
Hoyle-Brown	7	4	.636
Canadian Legion	0	10	.000

Last night's score: Hoyle-Brown 1, Canadian Legion 0.

Next game, Wednesday: Ciros vs. Hoyle-Brown, Central Park, 6:30 p.m.

In the tightest game of the current senior fastball race, Hoyle-Brown last night eked out a slim 1-0 victory over the still-winless Canadian Legion squad. The win advanced Lloyd Jones' boys to within two games of the pace-setting Ciros, and left the veterans solidly bogged down in the cellar spot.

Two hits in the initial frame provided the shut-out triumph for the wholesalers. Chuck Harrington, in scoring position following a long triple to centre field, was driven across the plate by Frank Coller's solid single.

With only one error all night, and that to Hoyle-Brown, both teams tightened right up for the rest of the contest, giving their respective pitchers good support. After their two big hits in the first, winners only got three more bingles. All counts on the scoresheet were small — walks and strikeouts included.

In the record-time game, Legion's Ted Minnis took strikeout honors, retiring three to Tenning's one.

Short score:	R.	H.	E.
Legion	0	3	0
Hoyle-Brown	1	5	1

Batteries: Minnis and MacDonald; Tenning and Harrington.

Other action on the fastball front included four women's games. In the senior "B," "A" Division, Wally Yeaman's Hopefuls came through with a ninth-inning score to defeat the W.R.C.N.S. nine 6-5. In the same division, Adverts had little trouble in taking the Victoria Box & Paper gals 10-3, and at Sidney, H.B.C. won 10-8. Hepcats scored a "B" division win by downing J.H. & E. 15-10.

Black & White Taxi's nine consolidated their first-place hold in the Junior League with an 18-13 win over Page Cleaners.
